What Happened

On June 5, 2026, we detected suspicious activity within two County email accounts. As soon as we learned this, we launched an investigation with nationally recognized third-party cybersecurity and data forensics consultants and determined that there was unauthorized access to the two County email accounts on June 5, 2026. On June 16, 2026, the investigation confirmed that protected health information from the County HHS employee’s email was accessed. We then conducted a thorough review to determine: (1) what information was involved; (2) who may have been affected; and (3) where those people reside. On June 17, 2026, we completed that review and began working to provide written notice of this incident.

What Information Was Involved

The affected information included name, date of birth, address, Social Security number, medical/health information, dates of medical services, case number, PMI number, MAXIS number, diagnosis/treatment information, names of healthcare providers, insurance information, and information related to services provided by County HHS. A limited number of individuals had account and routing number impacted.

What We Are Doing About It

As soon as we learned about this incident, we immediately worked with our team to secure our email and begin an investigation. To further enhance our security and to help prevent similar occurrences in the future, we have taken or will be taking the following steps:

1. Secured the impacted email accounts by changing the passwords;
2. Retraining employees regarding cybersecurity practices related to email;
3. Communicating with all staff regarding increased awareness of phishing emails;
4. Reviewing our email retention policy; and
5. Ongoing investigation of additional tools, training, and third-party monitoring partnerships to strengthen security.

Additionally, the County notified Minnesota IT Services (“MNIT”) and the United States Department of Health and Human Services.

What You Can Do

We recommend that you take the following preventative measures to help detect and mitigate any misuse of your information:

1. Remain alert for incidents of fraud and identity theft by regularly reviewing any account statements, free credit reports and health insurance Explanation of Benefits (EOB) forms for unauthorized or suspicious activity. Information on additional ways to protect your information, including how to obtain a free credit report and free security freeze, can be found at the end of this letter.

Fraud Alerts

You may want to consider placing a fraud alert on your credit report. An initial fraud alert is free and will stay on your credit file for one year. The alert informs creditors of possible fraudulent activity within your report and requests that the creditor contact you prior to establishing any new accounts in your name. To place a fraud alert on your credit report, contact any of the three national credit reporting agencies using the contact information listed above. As soon as one credit bureau confirms the fraud alert, they will notify the others. Additional information is available at www.annualcreditreport.com.

Security Freeze

You have the ability to place a security freeze on your credit report at no cost to you. A security freeze is intended to prevent credit, loans and services from being approved in your name without your consent. To place a security freeze on your credit report, you may be able to use an online process, an automated telephone line, or a written request to all three of the credit reporting agencies listed above. The following information must be included when requesting a security freeze (note that if you are requesting a credit report for your spouse, this information must be provided for him/her as well): (1) full name, with middle initial and any suffixes; (2) Social Security number; (3) date of birth; (4) current address and any previous addresses for the past five years; (5) a legible copy of a government-issued identification card, (6) proof of current address, such as a legible copy of a recent utility bill or bank or insurance statement, (7) a legible copy of a recent W-2, pay stub, or Social Security card, and (8) if you are a victim of identity theft, a copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft. It is essential that each copy be legible, display your name and current mailing address, and the date of issue. Under federal law, you cannot be charged to place, lift, or remove a security freeze.

After receiving your freeze request, each credit reporting company will send you a confirmation letter containing a unique PIN (personal identification number) or password. Keep the PIN or password in a safe place, you will need it if you choose to lift the freeze.

Protecting Your Medical Information

We have no information to date indicating that your medical information involved in this incident was or will be used for any unintended purposes. As a general matter, however, the following practices can help to protect you from medical identity theft.

- Only share your health insurance cards with your health care providers and other family members who are covered under your insurance plan or who help you with your medical care.
- Review your “explanation of benefits statement” which you receive from your health insurance company. Follow up with your insurance company or care provider for any items you do not recognize. If necessary, contact the care provider on the explanation of benefits statement and ask for copies of medical records from the date of the potential access (noted above) to current date.

Ask your insurance company for a current year-to-date report of all services paid for you as a beneficiary. Follow up with your insurance company or the care provider for any items you do not recognize.

Additional Helpful Information

Even if you do not find any suspicious activity on your initial credit reports, the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) recommends that you check your credit reports periodically. Checking your credit report periodically can help you spot problems and address them quickly.

If you find suspicious activity on your credit reports or have reason to believe your information is being misused, call your local law enforcement agency and file a police report. Be sure to obtain a copy of the police report, as many creditors will want the information it contains to absolve you of the fraudulent debts. You may also file a complaint with the FTC by contacting them at the information provided above. This notice was not delayed as a result of a law enforcement investigation.

If your personal information has been used to file a false tax return, to open an account or to attempt to open an account in your name, or to commit fraud or other crimes against you, you may file a police report in the city in which you currently reside.
